

BSB30715 Certificate III in Work Health and Safety

Course Information Sheet

About the course

This course is delivered and assessed by Master Builders Association of Victoria (RTO no 3935).

This is a nationally accredited course which assists students to identify workplace hazards, assess risks associated with these hazards and apply risk control (with guidance). There is inherent risk associated with many roles and tasks on building and construction sites.

NOTE: Students undertaking study in Work Health and Safety (WHS) in Victoria should be aware that the State of Victoria is bound by the Victorian Occupational Health and Safety Act (Vic) 2004 and course content covered relates to this legislation. The terms OHS and WHS are equivalent and generally either can be used in the workplace. Students should be aware that other States and Territories in Australia operate under the National Model WHS Legislation and students working in the Health and Safety industry outside of the State of Victoria may need to familiarise themselves with these laws.

Topics covered include:

- Compliant application of Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) legislation, regulation, codes and standards in the workplace.
- Monitoring and reviewing safety management practices.
- Communication, conflict management and negotiation skills.
- OHS issue resolution including diversity and discrimination complaints.
- Production and/or application of safety documents including incident reports, safe work methods statements (SWMS) and provisional improvement notices (PINs).

Learning outcomes

Students will have gained the skills and knowledge to:

- Refer to OHS laws and regulations for evidence to support workplace OHS requirements.
- Assist in the collection and analysis of workplace OHS data.
- Identify hazards and assess risks on domestic and commercial building sites and establish appropriate control measures for these hazards.

- Consult with management, subcontractors and workers on OHS concerns.
- Participate in the effective communication of OHS information, techniques and procedures to other team members.
- Contribute to team innovation when addressing OHS issues in the workplace.
- Provide support to OHS specialists in resolving OHS issues.
- Research alternative pathways when seeking expert advice on OHS issues.

Who should study this course?

This course is suitable for:

- OHS/WHS committee members
- site supervisors
- Health and Safety Representatives or personnel who provide occupational health and safety advice and support to a team, including in a voluntary capacity.

Recognition of prior learning (RPL) or credit transfer

The Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) is a comprehensive national policy framework that defines all qualifications recognised nationally in post-compulsory education within Australia. As a Registered Training Organisation (RTO) authorised to deliver training and issue qualifications under the AQF, Master Builders recognises AQF qualifications and Statements of Attainment issued by RTOs throughout Australia for qualifications and Units of Competency currently on its Scope of Registration.

Recognition of prior learning (RPL) is an assessment process that involves assessment of an individual's relevant prior learning (including formal, informal and non-formal learning) to determine the credit outcomes of an individual application for credit.

Credit transfer is a process that provides students with agreed and consistent credit outcomes for components of a qualification based on identified equivalence in content and learning outcomes between matched qualifications.

An application for RPL or credit transfer can be submitted prior to the commencement of the course.

Alternatively, RPL and credit transfer procedures are also referred to during course induction (where there is a course induction) and students can apply for RPL or credit transfer after the first day of class. Timelines of the application and how it will affect attendance of classes while application is in progress will be organised between the applicant and a Training Department staff member. Please telephone the Training Department on 03 9411 4555 if you would like to discuss this further.

Units where credits may apply

Students who have successfully completed a BSB30715 Certificate III in Work Health and Safety may be eligible for a credit transfer of one unit of competency towards completion of the BSB41415 Certificate IV in Work Health and Safety. Unit that credit can be applied for is:
